 DEDICATION *****

The 1978 Concordia Invitational Women's Basketball Classic is dedicated to its founder - PATRICIA G. BOLAND - Pat served as Co-ordinator of Women's Athletics from 1971 to 1978 during which time she transformed the women's program into one of the finest in Canada. She started the Invitational in 1972 as a four-team tourney and expanded it to an eight-team format, which included the best teams in eastern Canada. The quality of the tournament can be demonstrated in the fact that Laurentian University has won four consecutive National Championships, yet has won only two Concordia championships. In addition, over 30 different national team players have participated in the tournament since 1972.

Pat, herself was a former National Team Player, whose first love has always been basketball. Her countless hours and dedication have made the Concordia Classic the premier women's basketball tournament in Canada.

And while Concordia fans and foes alike will certainly miss Pat, the Concordia Invitational Classic serves as a tribute to the outstanding job she did. Pat Boland is gone, but not forgotten.

TEAM PROFILES

LAVAL ROUGE ET OR: Coach Monique Parent's club returns to Q.U.A.A. action after a years absence and are a definite threat to win the league crown. The Rouge et or are led by their outstanding backcourt duo of Geneviève Rail and Linda Marquis, as well as All-Star forward Andrée Belanger. Both Belanger and Marquis are members of the Quebec Elite team. Laval plays an aggressive, running game and is never out of the game.

LAURENTIAN VEES: The only two-time champions in the Concordia Classic history, the Vees are also defending Canadian Women's Intercollegiate Athletic Union champions. In fact, Norm Vickery's squad has won the National title four years in a row. And while Laurentian has lost all five starters, coach Norm Vickery feels he might have his best club ever. National team member Sylvia Sweeney, Angie MacDonald, Allison Towriss, Natalie Vukovich, Eileen Galuska, and former John Abbott star, Martha Fortier make Laurentian the pre-season favourite.

BISHOP'S: While the Bishop's Gaiterettes bring only eight players to this tournament, they may have the most poised team. The defending Q.U.A.A. champions are led by National team player Debbie Huband, All-Stars Helen McAuley and Diane Murphy, veteran Cathy McGurk and former John Abbott standout Sue Hylland.

UNIVERSITY OF NEW BRUNSWICK: Coach Joyce Slipp's Red Bloomers are experienced, and a well-coached team that gives 100 per cent. U.N.B. is paced by Cathy Maxwell, Claire Mitton and transfer Kathy Jennings. Last year they finished third place in the Classic following a heartbreaking double overtime loss to Laurentian in the semi-finals.

TOURNAMENT HISTORY

The Concordia Invitational Women's Basketball Classic has grown in size and stature since its inception in 1972, as a four-team tourney. Originally called the Loyola Women's Invitational basketball tournament, it has continued to gain prestige as the most outstanding collection of women's basketball teams.

Dalhousie won the first invitational, defeating the Waterloo Athenas 61-47 in the final game. The Tigerettes' Joan Selig was named Most Valuable Player and joined teammates Rose Johnston and Helika Hudoffsky on the All-Star team.

Queens College of New York City breezed through the 1973 tourney, winning their three games by a total of 76 points. Debbie "The Pearl" Mason's 51 points and her ballhandling wizardry won her the MVP selection.

1974 was the Year of Laurentian, as Norm Vickery's Vees shocked Queen's 46-41, then made easy work of Winnipeg and Lakehead. Loyola's Liz Silcott was the Tournament's Outstanding Player, netting 63 points, while Winnipeg's Chris Critelli set the standing tournament's scoring record of 71 points.

Southern Connecticut became the second American champion two years ago, defeating Laurentian 59-54 behind their powerful center and tournament MVP Marnie Dacko.

Compliments of

CRÉDIT FONCIER

Outstanding individual performances were turned in by Nancy Knowlton of St. Mary's, who scored 69 points in two losing efforts, and Kim Hansen, whose 56 point three-game effort placed her on the All-Star team, for the second consecutive year, along with Laurentian's Anne Hurley.

The 1976 tourney was perhaps the most competitive and exciting to date with 14 members of the Canadian National teams in action ... three of the eight teams competing, later advanced to the nationals, including the national champion Laurentian Vees. Concordia sparked by the outstanding performances of Liz Silcott, Sylvia Sweeney and Elaine Betchinski, upended the Vees 72-67 in a close, exciting, final before a SRO crowd.

Last year appeared to be a rematch of 1975 as Southern Connecticut and Laurentian once again locked horns in the final. Only this time Vickery's squad upended the Owls 60-54 behind Critelli and Jan Trombly. However, the most exciting game of the tourney occurred in the semi-finals when Laurentian defeated U.N.B. in double overtime.

Concordia University is located in downtown and west end Montreal. The name of the university reflects its place within the community; it is drawn from the motto of the City of Montreal, "Concordia Salus".

The University has strong traditions in part-time undergraduate education. Indeed, more than half its students work full-time during the day.

Concordia's graduate programmes also place great emphasis on the part-time student.

Founded in 1974 with the merger of Loyola College and Sir George Williams University, the university now offers undergraduate courses in four faculties: Arts & Science, Commerce & Administration, Engineering and fine Arts.

The Master's degrees awarded by the university include the Master of Arts, the Master of Science, the Master of Computer Science, the Master of Engineering, the Master of Engineering in Building, the Master of Fine Arts and the Master of Teaching in Mathematics.

The Department of Physical Education and Athletics is designed to offer a complete and diversified programme to meet the varied interests of today's students. The programme has been cited as one of the outstanding contemporary models in the country. The aim is to provide an opportunity for all students to participate and not just the dextrous few who play varsity sports.

JUNIOR OLYMPIC BASKETBALL

CLINIC

The Canadian Olympic Association has recently confirmed the selection of Concordia University for a Royal Bank Junior Olympics Girls Basketball Clinic.

This clinic will take place on Sunday, December 3, 1978 at Concordia University in Montreal.

The Junior Olympics Clinic Program is sponsored by the Royal Bank of Canada and administered by the Canadian Olympic Association in cooperation with the Canadian Interuniversity Athletic Union. The Clinic concept is aimed at providing as much of the youth sector in Canada with an exposure to a variety of Canada's Olympic sport disciplines. Subsequent to this exposure, it is hoped that a significant number of youngsters will become interested in the sport, to the point of continuing their involvement at higher levels.

Mike Hickey of Concordia University has been designated as the head of the clinic. He will be assisted by a staff of highly qualified local instructors from Montreal and the surrounding area. Coleen Dufresne has been selected as a special assistant for Mr. Hickey for the one day clinic. She is a well known basketball competitor in the Montreal area. Ms. Dufresne was one of the local area women who was chosen to represent Canada in basketball in the 1976 Montreal Olympic Games. She will also be available to answer any questions that may arise about the Olympics and the build-up and training needed to reach such peak performance.

For more information on the Royal Bank Junior Olympics Girls Basketball Clinic - contact Mike Hickey at Concordia University - 482-0320, Loc. 739

13TH ANNUAL CENTENNIAL BASKETBALL MEN'S TOURNAMENT

While on the subject of Tournaments, the 13th Annual Concordia Centennial Tournament to be held on December 8th and 9th, promises to be the best ever. Three participants from last year's C.I.A.U. National Basketball championships, St. Mary's Huskies, York Yeomen and the Wilfrid Laurier Golden Hawks, will join the rejuvenated Stingers.

The pre-tournament favorite has to be Brian Heaney's Huskies, who captured their second National title last year and are busily preparing to put up a strong defense in 1978-79. Montrealers Tom Kappos and Mark Vickers are expected to lead this year's St. Mary's squad.

TEAM PROFILES

SOUTHERN CONNECTICUT OWLS: The Owls have made their presence felt in the Concordia Classic, winning the Championship in 1975 and then finishing second in last year's tourney. Don Perrelli's squad has been ranked in the United States' top 20 the last two seasons, and finished first in the Northeast Regionals before losing to Maryland in the Eastern finals. Joan Van Ness, the 1977 Tournament M.V.P. will lead this year club.

OTTAWA GEE-GEES: Head Coach Erik Andersen has one of the strongest clubs since the days of All-Canadian Colleen Dufresne. Andersen has several experienced players including forward, Pam Coburn, guard Cindy Trylik and transfer Theresa Kowal and the La Tuque native, Wanda Pilon. The Gee-Gees expect to finish strong in the Ontario University Athletic Association East race.

GUELPH GRYPHONS: The Gryphons are a powerful squad that is expected to capture one of the two Ontario titles to the CWIAU Nationals in Regina this March. Coach Karen Lee has an outstanding line-up that includes National team member Candy Clarkson, former Ottawa Rookie star Ingrid Kihl and Lindley. The Gryphons will be out to avenge a three point loss to the Stingers in the first round of last year's tourney.

CONCORDIA STINGERS: The host club boasts an impressive line-up that features veterans Cheryl Petersen (last year's leading rebounder and scorer), Gay Owens, Debbie Larsen, Joyce Tarbet, Helen Malacrida, Barbara McGuinness and transfers Linda Macpherson and Inger Breida. Coach Mike Hickey is also counting heavily on rookies Rose Anne Darwent and Joann Bourque to help recapture the Q.U.A.A. title.
